Joshua Dinnerman's it-techview.com report reveals the latest feature of eBay. As you all know eBay is the number one product buying and selling store (E-commerce Store). In the start of March 2019, eBay released a new feature to boost the selling of sellers. "Offers to Buyer" yeah you read it correctly, now sellers can create a separate list of their buyers. In this list, sellers can add only those buyers who are interested in buying sellers items.

Seller's conversion rates are going to touch the sky for sure. Some sellers are calling this feature as a treasure. With the help of this feature, sellers can also send promotional prices to specific buyers as well.

Hang On! Fella's this is not the end of it. Now sellers can directly edit active listing page in the Seller Hub. Not only the price but also the quantity, custom labels, promotional prices and many more as well.

To manage the data of the sales and order sellers can download a report as well. Access to the Sellers HUB, select the required report and tap on the download button. Do not worry about the format of the data because the data is going to be comma separated in CSV format.

eBay introduced this feature for the comfort of the sellers as well as to increase its number of users. If you are holding an online business then join eBay ASAP, it will boost your sales for sure.
